What has been the Foundation's biggest challenge since 2008?

GLORIA VERGÉS DE FISAS

" Without a doubt, we have succeeded in creating a collaborative network committed to the growth and sustainability of our foundation's projects. Since the beginning, we have been able to transform a foundation dedicated to providing microcredit loans into one that is able to manage its own projects; Oncology Aesthetics and Project Difference.

My husband would say that he was a good orchestra conductor, and he was, no doubt about it. He always recognized that without his team he wouldn't have achieved anything important. And this is reflected in our foundation, where the collaborative, volunteer spirit is everything. This is what drives the foundation, and makes it grow."

Another very important objective for us was to create an involved and dedicated team, where passion, goodwill, strength, professionalism and the ability to overcome are present every day in every project, just like my husband would have wanted.

For professional, supportive skin care

Since 2010, this program has treated the side effects on the skin experienced by those undergoing oncology therapy, such as extreme dryness on the hands and feet, irritation, itchiness and tightness that affect their daily lives.

WHY?

Because having the healthiest skin possible during the illness contributes to the person’s wellbeing, and can even affect job security and self-esteem. We want everyone—regardless of available resources— to be able to access aesthetic skincare treatments that are individual, professional and free of charge at their hospital or patient association.

This year we have also been able to offer the possibility of resolving any queries regarding caring for one’s skin through our telephone help line and online.

For early intervention in learning differences

Since 2014, the Project Difference program has provided support to educative teams who teach students with learning differences such as dyslexia and ADHD within the school’s inclusive framework.

WHY?

Because for over 75% of children, school is their only source for resources and support, according to our experience during these last 5 years in schools.

From here, our program is directed at the teachers and the management teams in the schools. In this way, the teacher can detect the students who need intensive education support and intervene, optimizing the students’ abilities.

Thank you to all!

Currently, we exist thanks to the donation of 0.7% of the Natura Bissé group's entire income, to the profits generated by the company's line of amenities marketed by Bottega Dell'Abergo and the sale of other solidarity lines such as Mango Nourishing Balm or Nourishing Lip Balm; and to contributions made by companies and organizations that stand in solidarity with each of the foundation's projects.

Thanks to this supportive network, driven by the brand of which customers, distributors, partnering companies and its own workers are a part, we are able to make the Foundation's programs and partnerships possible.
